

greater extent if they go down deeper.

Report has been received that the Verde river, which has been up so high the past few weeks that it was impossible to ford it, is receding and can now be forded in safety.

At Powell, a small station on the Santa Fe, near the Colorado river bridge a section boss who had been

Clipped By:

plateauresources

Tue, Dec 23, 2014