Now Kayaking In Clarkdale

Not often can you experience a beautiful stretch of a waterway in Arizona that has seen very few boaters on it especially in the desert. This trip begins just up stream from the Town of Clarkdale, AZ across from the historic TAPCO (The Arizona Power Company) power plant and ends at the base of Tuzigoot National Monument, a 1,000 year old ancient pueblo site. Cruising down this incredible new stretch of the Verde River at Clarkdale in a "Ducky Kayak" is a scream! These inflatable kayaks are comfortable, unbelievably stable, easy to paddle and just plain fun for everyone!

We have some of the best guides in the industry!

We will have a guide information page here soon!
